

Goldie Hawn pondering ARCADIA: The Clyde's Murals (Best Friends, 1982)

ARCADIA:

The Clyde's Murals by William Woodward

William Woodward Closing Party December 14, 6 - 7:30PM

Say farewell to William Woodward's fantastical Arcadia murals with a reception and remarks from the artist. Free and open to all, no RSVP required.

William Woodward's vibrant, 72-foot mural, Arcadia (1980), evokes a landscape of pure painterly invention, a lost world that has inspired poets, artists and musicians since antiquity.

These 11 impressive panels—with scenes influenced by artists from Poussin to N.C. Wyeth and Howard Pyle—these magical forests, naked nymphs and frolicking fauns, satyrs, centaurs, and mystical seashores with mermaids, pirates, and treasure ships—became a success de scandale when they were first unveiled at the now legendary Clyde's Restaurant of Tyson's Corner, Virginia.
